

FOR COOLING OUT LOUD

Technical Bulletin No. 7

SPAL's new coolant pump has been the star of the show at conferences and exhibitions around the country this year and now we've put together a Technical Bulletin about it.

The 7th instalment in our series, it sets down all the essential information about this new range addition; why it is the perfect partner to our cooling fans and how it provides even more thermal management of the overall cooling system.

New website page for #LAMMA23

We are planning to make a big impact at premier agricultural event the Lamma Show in January 2023 and so we have created a separate page for it on our website.

Read about our plans for the show and stayed tuned for updates.
